Christian Frederiksen with Archeon Group to present. Density of project has been reduced from 132 Studio & 1 Bedroom units down to 94 Studio & 1 Bedroom Units & 2 3Bedroom units to replace the homes removed for project. Ground floor project no longer commercial so entire project is now residential, bringing the height of the project from 61ft down to 51ft. Equestrian trail has been incorporated on Roxford side of project. Also with DOT recommendation vehicle approach (entrance) on Roxford to be entrance only with driveway on Foothill to be entrance & exit. Finalized plans with applications to be send to LA Department of planning within the next month for approval.

Questions/Comments from community -

- Tom Weissbarth asked in Zoom chat for a copy of the presentation to be emailed to all who get PLUC updates.

And questions parking spaces provided – answer of 1 space per unit with a total of 95 parking spaces, with 2 accessible parking spaces, no guest parking but with 115 bike parking spaces.

And a proposed a community ride share vehicle such as ZIP rideshare or something similar.

- Cheri questions low-income units – current project has 12 very low-income (down from the original 19)

- Matt Scott – questions local fire department and emergency response available within the area. Lives within the neighborhood across the street with parking concerns with statement that they’re neighborhood would be more than willing to entertain a meeting with developer regarding this.

- Patty – commends the equestrian trail and the lower density. But is opposition to the size of the building within that area and the severe lack of available parking in the building and parking within area.

- Armando – questions if they would be able to add an additional story for more parking. Answer of that not being a possibility.

- Leah – questions the roof deck with entertainment space. Answer of offset of 6-10ft for entertainment resident use only primarily facing Foothill.

Community outreach with neighbors, with the answer that outreach has been done with no response from community.

Peter makes statement that while the concessions and reductions made are appreciated. At this time the current opposition letter on SNC PLUC record will have to remain since the major concerns of density with sever lack of parking within the project and surrounding area remains a major issue.

Motion: Patty makes a motion to continue opposition for the lack of parking issue. Lucille 2nd.

Comments on Motion: This not being the final plan so probably not to be voted on as well as this not being a “for action” item on agenda.
